

To Ron B.

When I guessed the perfect answer,
when the batted ball rolled fair,
when the test results were negative,
I didn't ask why.

I got the job I wanted,
I made the perfect fake,
I saw my children graduate,
I didn't ask why.

My partner fills the void inside,
and strengthens where I'm weak,
I found the my greatest complement,
I didn't ask why.

Can I hold those precious words,
of comfort, peace and hope?
So when the tests are someday positive,
I didn't ask why.
